Mission Statement of the American Nursing Informatics Association

The mission of ANIA is to advance nursing informatics through education, research, and practice in all roles and settings.

Introduction

The American Nursing Informatics Association (ANIA) is the association of professional nurses and associates who:

- Are committed to their specialty that integrates nursing science, computer science and information science to manage and communicate data, information, knowledge, and wisdom in nursing and informatics practice
- Identify informatics practice as a specialty that is essential to the delivery of high quality and cost-effective healthcare
- Are committed to their professional development and seek to actively engage in a community of like-minded professionals
- Use informatics to improve the health of populations, communities, families, and individuals by optimizing information management and communication

Membership is 3,200 nurses and other healthcare professionals in informatics practice and includes roles in system design and implementation, education, research (analysis and evaluation), standards and policy development, quality improvement, as well as those in management and administration.

May 9-11, 2024: Hyatt Regency Chicago

Journal of Informatics Nursing (JIN)

The Journal of Informatics Nursing \(JIN\) is the official publication of the American Nursing Informatics Association (ANIA). The digital journal is published quarterly for members of ANIA. Each issue offers a nursing continuing professional development (NCPD) activity, regular columns, and a variety of feature articles on various topics impacting nurse informaticists. Delivered as a digital edition, JIN allows readers to easily bookmark content, print resources, and share information.

Exhibiting

The Annual Conference takes place every spring and is recognized as one of the top events for nursing informatics professionals. Exhibitors have an outstanding opportunity to personally present their important sales and marketing message to hundreds of nurses who are working within clinical information systems, educational applications, data collection/research applications, administrative/decision support systems, and those who have an interest in the field of NI.
